

We are all ONE Albuquerque.

Albuquerque has a long tradition of promoting inclusion, diversity, and multiculturalism. Among others, native-born Hispanic/ Latino and immigrant communities contribute greatly to the cultural, social, and economic fiber of this city.

Recognizing these contributions, Albuquerque has passed policies aimed at improving the public safety of all Albuquerqueans, as well as better integrating immigrants into the mainstream. These policies were passed with a broad base of support from law enforcement leadership, domestic violence and sexual assault advocates, and immigrant, faith, social justice, labor, and human and civil rights organizations.

MY PLEDGE

I live in Albuquerque and I pledge to work FOR policies that promote:

- Diversity, inclusion, and multi-culturalism
- Community Policing (common sense dictates that law enforcement can't police a community that doesn't trust them)
- Tackling the real crime and public safety issues that we face as a community
- Public safety for all, regardless of gender, race, national origin, disability, or religion
- Protection of Albuquerque's current non-discrimination policies

I pledge to work AGAINST:

- Scapegoating of Hispanics/Latinos and immigrants that diverts attention away from real issues about crime in Albuquerque
- Policies that would promote racial profiling and a rise in hate crimes against Hispanics/Latinos and immigrants
- Political divisiveness for the purpose of political gain
- Changes in Albuquerque's non-discrimination policies

I, along with thousands of other residents of Albuquerque, respectfully request that you, Mayor Richard Berry, make the same pledge, and look forward to working with your administration to make that pledge a reality.
